Loring W. Clark 8/3/1922 - 8/8/2016

Ensign Clark became a Crew member of BANG on 3/12/1945 while she was in Guam being refitted after her 5th patrol. He left Guam with BANG on 3/25/1945 and arrived at Pearl Harbor on 5/18/1945 after a successful 6th and final patrol. Loring then accompanied BANG back to Portsmouth Naval Shipyard for some much needed repairs. While there, the War ended and Ensign Clark disembarked BANG on 9/26/1945.

Loring was residing in a nursing home in Medford, OR at the time of his death. No obituary was posted on the internet - only a death notice. His wife, Mary, was not mentioned either so I presume she predeceased him. Only a son and daughter-in-law were referred to.

Editor's Notes and Ramble: Hi Shipmates!

I recently received an enjoyable phone call from shipmate Walter Bushfield, GM (44, WP1,2,3,4). He called to wish his shipmates a Happy New Year and to let them know that even though he is now 93, he is still in good health and all his vital parts are still functioning properly - just at a slower pace. Therefore, he tends to stay close to home and not able to attend our Reunions because of the excessive travel. Though, he did say that if we decide to have a Reunion in WA, he would be the first one to sign up for it.

Another great phone call came from Dan Dudley, TM (45-46). He recently moved from FL back to Street, MD and wanted to make sure he didn't miss out on any of the Newsletters. We started reminiscing and, before you know it, we had our batteries charged. Maybe even an equalizer. Hope we can do it again, Dan.

Tom Stewart, SN, came to BANG from USS

Toro (SS422) on 1/4/1951. He boarded her at the Thames River mothball fleet where she had been resting after her meritorious service in the Pacific during WWII. Tom then commenced preparing BANG for her 2nd commissioning on 2/1/1951 and continued on aboard until 1/28/1952 when he was transferred to USS Angler (SS240). BANG was decommissioned shortly afterward on 5/15/1952 and sent to PNS for overhaul to a Guppy IIA. Though he was aboard BANG for just a short time, Tom always spoke highly of his shipmates and how he enjoyed being aboard with them. Tom and wife Nancy were 'regulars' at our Reunions until deteriorating health issues prevented them from traveling. Nancy sent the following note along with Tom's obit.

"Tom was ill with UTI and kidney stones most of 2016. He became so weak (117 lbs) we couldn't care for him any longer. He sure missed attending the BANG Reunions."

SICK BAY

I must warn you that our Reunions can become addictive and, with that, I look forward to seeing you in New Orleans. Also, I thank you for your Slush Fund donation.

I have just been informed by Sharon, (soon to be Mrs Sciuto), that our Chaplain, Len, just underwent 7+ hours of surgery and it was a great success. Between the Power of Prayer and positive thoughts the Robotic Surgery removed the cancer and he should be home in a day or two.

If "No News is Good News" then Ken Bush must be mending on schedule. I haven't received any updates on Ken's condition since the last Newsletter so maybe we will get to see he and Ruth soon.

We haven't received an update on John Monroe's health in a while. John, if you're up to it, why don't you build yourself a raft, plunk it in the Mississippi, and ride it all the way down to New Orleans just in time for the Reunion.

If I haven't said this before, then shame on me. I would like to thank 'Doc' Dougherty, our Photographer, for sacrificing a lot of his socializing time at our Reunions to take the photos that grace the pages of our Newsletter throughout the year. Well done Doc! I'd put you in for a ribbon, if there was one.

The writings and material within this Newsletter are the sole responsibility of its Editor and in no way reflect the opinion of its intended readers, the Bang Gang. ....Phil Beals, editor

Alan Thole, IC electrician (68-69), "Linda and I had a great time at the Chattanooga Reunion. I especially enjoyed catching up with shipmates who served when I was aboard and also meeting those that served before and after me. What a great Crew!!!

Linda and I loved it all and are looking forward to the 2017 Reunion in New Orleans." ... "Alan, it was a pleasure to meet you and Linda at last years Reunion and I am pleased to hear that you enjoyed yourself enough to make plans to attend the next one.

Conyal Cody, Chief ElectriciansMate (58-61), "Thank you for your diligence with the Bang Gang Newsletter.

I am far removed from the "heyday" of BANG but, I enjoy reading about the personalities that served on that noteworthy ship.

I was laid up with a stroke for several months. However, at eighty-seven, my doctor allows me to walk regularly."...Thanks, Conyal, for sending us an update to your Bio and a much appreciated donation to our Slush Fund. Glad to hear that you are now out of bed and exercising after your stroke. As we age, there is much truth to the saying "Use It Or Lose It".

A Time for Reflection and Change

An old man, smoking a pipe, was sitting on a park bench overlooking a lake. He was alone and deep in thought. Lying next to him was his dog. You could tell the dog was old as he was overweight with an all-white muzzle. The old man stared at the dog, smiled and gently pet him. The dog opened his eyes and wagged his tail. At that very moment, the old man heard a voice in his head. It was a calm and whispering kind of voice. "Hello Wayne, it's me, lying next to you. I love it when you pet me, pay attention to me and show me that you love me as much as I love you. I want you to know that I have loved you unconditionally and stood by your side through thick and thin. I sensed and felt all of your happiness and all of your pain that entered our lives. I won't be with you much longer as my life will end soon. After all of these years together, I have a question for you. That question is: You did so much for me and your family, what have you done for others?" The old man looked around and saw no one. He looked back down at the dog and asked, "Is it true? How can I hear you talking to me? Why haven't you spoken to me before?" The dog replied, "Because you would not have listened to me. You were so involved in so many things even after you lost your wife and became a recluse. So I ask you again, what have you done for others?"

The old man was amazed and frightened a little. That question burned in his mind. He reflected on his life as far back as he could remember. He looked at his dog and said, "I was just a typical man. I minded my own business. I thanked God for the wonderful things that happened in my life. And I ignored Him when the bad things came. Some things were hard to bear. Some things I never wanted anyone to know. It was the right way to be. I know I am a good man" The dog responded, "At this very moment Wayne, I am sorry for you. I am sorry that you missed so much in your life." The old man asked, "What do you mean?"

The dog answered, "Life is so much more than what you did in your life. Life must include the things you learned about in Sunday school. The things you forgot about after you stopped going. They are Faith in God. Hope for not only for yourself and your family, but for all others. Hope is to be good enough to be with God after this life is over. Finally, there is Charity. It's not only spending time with family and friends. It's giving of yourself and not just money, clothing or worldly things. It is helping the poor, feeding the hungry, and loving all others not matter what their color is; what their religion is; and what their politics are. I wish you would go back and reeducate yourself on these Beatitudes. They are the cornerstones for being a truly great person and not just a good person. I have given you a lot to think about. Oh, and by the way, it's never too late to start. You still have some time to fix things." The old man nodded in agreement. He answered the dog, "Thank you old friend. You are right. There is still time. I'll start today. I know you have loved me as much as I love you."

Final Resting Place Fulfilled

By Chief Petty Officer Steve Owsley
Naval Submarine Support Center
New London Public Affairs

ATLANTIC OCEAN >> More than 50 years ago, on April 10, 1963 USS Thresher (SSN 593) was lost at sea while conducting deep-dive trials approximately 200 miles southeast of Cape Cod, Mass. costing the lives of all 129 crew members aboard.

The loss of Thresher forever changed the U.S. Navy's submarine force and the life of one young Sailor.

At the time, Capt. Paul "Bud" Rogers Jr. was a recently commissioned officer who had only been at his command for a few months when he was scheduled to go aboard Thresher as part of a weapons inspection team, but the leadership team decided to send someone more senior, said Rogers' son-in-law, retired Cmdr. Fred Henney. "Bud lived the rest of his life with the knowledge that someone else died in his place and I believe it drove his decision to be buried at sea."

While on routine operations Nov. 30, 2016, at the site where Thresher was lost, the Los Angeles class, fast-attack submarine, USS Springfield (SSN 761) held a burial at sea where Rodgers' last wishes were fulfilled as he was sent on his eternal patrol alongside the submarine and Sailors he felt connected to.

"My husband loved submarines and he loved serving on them," said Rogers' widow, Barbara. "He went from being a boy scout to being a submariner."

Rogers died on October 28, 2015 and according to his obituary, He served in the U.S. Navy for 41 years. Rogers served as a Fire Controlman aboard the diesel submarines USS Sea Cat and USS BANG (SS385), then aboard one of the Navy's first ballistic missile submarines, USS Robert E. Lee. He was commissioned as an officer in 1963 and became one of the first-ever limited duty officers to be promoted to the rank of captain.

According to Barbara her husband joined the Navy during the Korean War and took part in the Blockade of Cuba during the Bay of Pigs Invasion. They were always stationed on the East Coast, from Key West, Fla. to Maine.

"It was a sad time in Groton, when the Thresher was lost,” said Barbara. “I never saw my husband cry before, but he was crying when it went down.”

Carbonero Pizza Party

She said, “He always said he wanted to be buried at sea, but particularly after the Thresher went down.”

On an overcast day, approximately 200 miles southeast of Cape Cod, Mass. USS Springfield’s Commanding Officer, Cmdr. Brent Spillner, Executive Officer, Lt. Cmdr. Rene Cano, and Chief of the Boat, Master Chief (SS/DV) Michael Johnson were in the submarine’s sail with Navy Chaplain, Cmdr. Paul Rumery.

Rumery read the biographies of Rogers and three other Navy veterans who had requested a burial at sea. Then he read scripture before each Sailor received a three-round gun salute in honor of their service. The ceremony ended with a playing of Taps and the Sailors being committed to the sea.

When speaking about her husband’s thoughts on being laid to rest with the Sailors of USS Thresher, Barbara said, “I think he would have been very, very happy. He felt bad all these years, because he felt he should have gone down with the ship. I feel that he would have felt like he was where he belonged.”

After the ceremony Spillner reflected, “It’s an absolute honor as captain of USS Springfield to be a small part of bringing Capt. Rogers to his final resting place as we transit to Portsmouth Naval Shipyard for our scheduled maintenance availability. The submarine force changed on April 10, 1963 and 100 years from now Submariners will still know the name Thresher.” Thresher was built at the Portsmouth Naval Shipyard in Kittery, Maine and homeported in Groton, Conn. The Navy believes a leak sprayed sea water on an electrical panel, which caused Thresher’s nuclear reactor to shut down. The Thresher’s loss resulted in the SUBSAFE program which led to a series of design modifications, training improvements and submarine safety criteria. The program, which was established approximately two months after the loss of Thresher, is still in place today.

Laissez Les Bons Temps Rouler!!!

Hi Shipmates,

We have secured the Trubadour, 1111 Gravier St., New Orleans, LA 70112 as our Reunion headquarters.

Open now for about a year, the Troubadour, a Joie de Vivre luxury boutique hotel, is a new addition to New Orleans' Central Business District skyline and conveniently located near many attractions - all within less than a mile. Some of those being, French Quarter - 3 blocks to Canal St and the Quarter's northwest boundary corner; Jackson Square and the Café Du Monde; Harrah's Casino; New Orleans Aquarium; Louis Armstrong Park; and access to the City's vast trolley system that will give you a leisure ride to the Audubon Zoo or the Cemeteries and, anywhere in-between.

Besides the hotel being only about a year old, all 'luxury' rooms come with many amenities including expansive window views, signature custom linens and bathrobe, 42" flat screen HDTV, designer bath amenities, complimentary Wi-Fi, In-room safe, compact Igloo refrigerator, and 24 hour Fitness Center.

The room rate for a SINGLE or DOUBLE is $138.00 + tax. (Rate is good for three days before and after reunion). In order to receive this special rate, you must indicate at time of reservation that you are with the USS Bang Reunion. We have a block of rooms to be held at this rate until the cutoff date of Wednesday, August 23, 2017. Any reservations received after the cutoff date will be provided at the group rate on a space available basis.

Reservations can be made by calling the hotel at (888) 858-6652.

To help you decide your mode of travel to New Orleans, there is an AMTRACK Train Station and a Greyhound Bus Terminal less than a mile from the hotel and Louis Armstrong New Orleans International Airport (MSY) is approximately 15 miles from the hotel.

If you plan to arrive by yacht, the Mississippi River is less than a mile from the hotel.

The following are tours that are currently a work in progress and, if finalized, will be offered to you on Tuesday and Wednesday during the Reunion.

The National WWII Museum, now the top-rated tourist destination in New Orleans, tells the story of the American Experience in the war that changed the world - why it was fought, how it was won, and what it means today - so that all generations will understand the price of freedom and be inspired by what they learn.

Mardi Gras World offers a behind the scenes look at New Orleans Mardi Gras traditions. Take the tour to see the year-long float building process. Try on costumes, learn history, make masks, and enjoy our famous King Cake!

Cajun Pride Swamp Tours - For many years people have traveled extensively to Louisiana to locate a unique and exciting adventure exploring Louisiana's back country with its meandering bayous and swamp that can be only experience here - the historical Manchac Swamp. We invite you to join us for an educational journey back to the early days of Louisiana bayou and swamp explorations.

Laura, an historic sugar plantation built in 1805.

Offers tours based on The Memoirs of Laura, a detailed account of 200 years of life on this farm. Walk in the footsteps of 4 generations of one Créole family, both free and enslaved.

Please feel free to contact Jennifer or Paul for answers to your questions about the Reunion.
